Ethical Standards

The Editorial Board accepts only unpublished manuscripts. In submitting the manuscript for publication, the authors certify that they agree to the "Author’s Statement on the Copyright Regulations" noted in the Copyright and Related Rights Act (NN 167/03). Thereby the author guarantees that the article presented for publication is an original paper that does not infringe upon any copyright regulations and strictly follows the rules of scientific methodology. In submitting a text for publication, the author conveys to the publisher of the journal the copyright to control the first publication of his/her work and warrants that the material of the paper has neither been published previously nor is it under review for publication elsewhere.

In an effort to ensure the highest ethical standards and academic quality, the originality of content of all submissions considered for publication in Anafora is verified using Turnitin/Ephorus plagiarism screening service. In case the Editorial Board has clear evidence of unethical research, or if the material presented in an article is unreliable, has previously been published elsewhere without proper crossreferencing, or constitutes plagiarism, it retains the right to reject a manuscript before submission for peer review or retract an article in accordance to the COPE Retraction Guidelines.

Manuscript Acceptance Policy

Articles that fit the journal's profile are accepted for publication by the Editorial Board subsequent to a verification of the originality of content using Turnitin/Ephorus plagiarism screening service and the anonymous review process conducted by a minimum of two independent academic peers in accordance with the standards of objectivity, anonymity, and confidentiality of information, as well as the guidelines of the Editorial Board and the Ordinance on Publishing Activities of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences in Osijek.

Copyright Notice

Copyright for articles published in this journal is retained by the authors, with first publication rights granted to the journal (this applies to both the print and electronic issues). By virtue of their appearance in this open access journal, articles are free to use, with proper attribution.