

UVODNIK

Poštovani čitatelji,

Pred vama je novi broj časopisa Acta Turistica - različit od onog što ste navikli prema našoj uređivačkoj politici. Naime, u ovom su broju objavljeni isključivo radovi članova i suradnika Katedre za turizam Ekonomskog fakulteta u Zagrebu. Namjera nam je bila da na taj način doprinesemo obilježavanju 90. rođendana našega fakulteta na kojem su upravo naši prethodnici, među prvima u svijetu, pokrenuli obrazovanje u području turizma na sveučilišnoj razini prije gotovo 50 godina. Kojim se istraživačkim pitanjima danas bave članovi Katedre za turizam pokazano je dijelom upravo u objavljenim radovima u ovom broju časopisa.

Kako smo povodom 90. obljetnice Ekonomskog fakulteta organizirali i okrugli stol na temu Kakav turizam želimo i možemo razvijati u Republici Hrvatskoj, inicirali smo i konstruktivnu raspravu o temeljnim problemima u turizmu u Hrvatskoj. Teme o kojima se raspravljalo kao i zaključke s rasprave također objavljujemo u ovom broju časopisa.

Mnogima će zasigurno biti interesantno zamijetiti da su generacije znanstvenika i prije nas u Hrvatskoj upozoravale na iste ili slične probleme s kojima se i danas praksa u turizmu suočava, ali da se na žalost u politici, osim deklarativno, gotovo ništa nije promijenilo. Bez obzira na tu činjenicu, na znanstvenicima je da i dalje svoje stavove jasno izražavaju i da u tim nastojanjima nikad ne posustaju.

Sljedeći broj Acta Turistica bit će ponovno internacionalno orijentiran i nadam se da će ovaj naš privremeni otklon od multikulturalnog pristupa problemima u turizmu i upoznavanja s izazovima u hrvatskom turizmu potaknuti možda i nekog od vas na komparativna istraživanja problema u va-

EDITORIAL

Dear readers,

Before you is the new issue of Acta Turistica - different from what you would expect in terms of our usual editorial policy. Namely, this issue features only the articles written by the members and collaborators of the Department of Tourism, Faculty of Economics & Business, University of Zagreb. It was our intention to contribute to celebrating our Faculty's 90th anniversary as it is just there that our predecessors pioneered studies and education in the field of tourism at university level almost 50 years ago. The published articles show in part what type of research topics has been in the focus of interest with the members of the Department of Tourism.

At one of the main events of our 90th anniversary, the Round Table on "What kind of Tourism do we really want and are able to develop in the Republic of Croatia?", a productive discussion on the fundamental issues concerning Croatia's tourism was generated, and the resulting outcomes are also published in this issue.

Many will certainly find it intriguing to read that generations of Croatian scholars even before us had identified the same or similar issues to the ones our contemporary tourism development is still facing and that, unfortunately, very little has changed – and only on declarative level. Regardless of this fact, it is the scholars' mission to persist in asserting their views and never to relinquish it.

The next issue of Acta Turistica will resume its international focus and, hopefully, this temporary breakaway from its multicultural approach to tourism issues towards the challenges in Croatia's tourism as presented in the articles of our Department's members could inspire some comparative research in your environments as well.

šem okruženju s opisanim u radovima kolega s Katedre za turizam Ekonomskog fakulteta u Zagrebu.

U nadi da će Uredništvo Acta Turistica uskoro zaprimiti i neke od takvih radova, želim vam puno uspjeha i sreće u 2011. godini.

Vaša,

Prof. dr. sc. Nevenka Čavlek

Glavna i odgovorna urednica

Trusting that the Editorial Board of Acta Turistica will soon receive this sort of articles, I wish you a lot of success and happiness in 2011.

Yours,

Professor Nevenka Čavlek

Editor-in-Chief
