

EDITORIAL

Contributions to this Special Issue of Croatica Chemica Acta were made by participants of the CEEPUS network Teaching and Learning Bioanalysis (Central European Exchange Program for University Studies). Many of the results given in this Issue were presented at the 10th International Symposium and Summer School on Bioanalysis that was held at the Department of Chemistry, Faculty of Science, University of Zagreb, Croatia, from 7th to 14th July 2010.

Scientists from nine European countries covered a variety of topics in bioanalysis and contributed to this Special Issue their scientific results in the form of original scientific articles, reviews, notes or conference articles. The contributions are from Austria (Karl-Franzens-University Graz, University of Vienna, University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences), Belgium (University of Namur), Bulgaria (Bulgarian Academy of Sciences), Croatia (University of Zagreb), Czech Republic (Charles University in Prague), Hungary (University of Pécs), Poland (University of Warsaw), Romania (University of Medicine and Pharmacy Târgu-Mureș, University of Medicine and Pharmacy “Iuliu Hațieganu”, North University of Baia Mare) and Spain (University of Alcalá).

We express our thanks to all authors for their contributions and the reviewers for their time and help in assisting the Editorial Board.

Dubravka Matković-Čalogović