

The 2012 Biochemical Engineering Journal Young Investigator Award

Call for Nominations – Deadline: March 31, 2012

The Biochemical Engineering Journal Young Investigator Award recognizes outstanding excellence in research and practice contributed to the field of biochemical engineering by a young community member.

Candidates must not be more than forty years of age as of March 31, 2012.

Read about the previous awardees

Previously presented biennially, Elsevier is pleased to announce that starting in 2012, the Young Investigator Award will be presented on an annual basis at either the Annual AIChE meeting in conjunction with the Food, Pharmaceutical and Bioengineering (FPBE) Division (even years) or the ECI Biochemical and Molecular Engineering Conferences (odd years).

The 2012 award consists of a cash prize of 2,500 U.S. Dollars and a plaque presented at the 2012 AIChE Annual Meeting (28 Oct – 2 Nov 2012, Pittsburgh, USA).

The award recipient will be recognized at the FBPE Division plenary/awards session and will present a keynote lecture in the most appropriate FPBE Division session at the annual meeting.

He or she will also be invited to compose a review article for the Biochemical Engineering Journal.

Candidates for the award must be self nominated and must submit an abstract to a session co-sponsored by the Food, Pharmaceutical and Bioengineering Division at the 2012 AIChE Annual Meeting to be considered. The selected candidate must also attend the meeting in order to receive the award.

Candidate applications must consist of the following materials:

- Nominee's curriculum vitae
- Statement of up to two pages describing the nominee's accomplishments and impact in the field of biochemical engineering
- A copy of the abstract submitted to the 2012 AIChE Annual Meeting for consideration and presentation
- Up to two published works by the candidate

The above items should be sent by the nominee as a single pdf file to the award committee chair, Professor William M. Miller, at: wmmiller@northwestern.edu.

- Up to two letters of support

The letters of support should be sent directly by the letter writers to the award committee chair, preferably as electronic files.

Closing date: Nominations must be received no later than March 31, 2012.

Anticipated award announcement date: May 15, 2012.
