

prostoru osmanskog i habsburškog imperijalnog sustava. Posebna pozornost posvećena je epidemijama kuge te postupcima za njihovo suzbijanje na prostorima Varaždinskog generalata (Slavonske krajine) i Križevačke županije u 17. i na početku 18. stoljeća, liječnicima i ljekarnicima.

Summary

Micro-Organisms, Epidemics And Medical Treatment In 17th And Beginning Of 18th Century Varaždin Generalate And Križevci County

Key words: micro-organisms, epidemics, medical treatment, military frontier, 17th century

The author deals here with start of hospices and their development into hospitals that took care of some medical issues. The majority of article is dedicated to significance of microorganisms and epidemics in borderline regions of the Ottoman and the Habsburg Empires. Particular attention was paid to the plague epidemics and actions taken in fighting it in Varaždin Generalate (Slavonia Military Frontier) and Križevci County in the 17th and early 18th century. The paper covers the work of the first physicians and midwives here, as well as hygiene conditions applied in the region between the rivers Drava, Sava and Kupa.