FROM THE MUSEUM OBJECT TO THE PROTECTED CULTURAL ASSET

HOW TO GET THE MUSEUM COLLECTION ON THE REGISTER OF CULTURAL GOODS OF THE REPUBLIC OF CROATIA?

The museums in the Republic of Croatia keep many objects which are parts of museum collections, acquired after many years. When entering the museum every object undergoes adequate administrative and professional processing – it is inventoried, photographed and catalogued in computer data bases. The question is why the Republic of Croatia – considering the existing dedication of museum experts in the processing of material – still has relatively few collections inscribed on the Register of Cultural Goods? With this question we would like to encourage museum experts to share their thinking and practical experience, including problems and suggestions for their solutions. This could help to pinpoint ways of possible efficiency improvement in this part of museum activity, e.g., by recognising the need for inter-institutional cooperation in the processing of collections, changes in the organisation of museum operation or in the work of specific departments and the appropriate staff, or possible legislative changes at the level of the Republic of Croatia.
