

Short Story Innovation by Bajsić

A short story has ever been a popular form of literary and non-literary expression, and as such has been similarly approached from the standpoint of literary theory. In Croatian circles, short stories were regularly published by Večernji list and Hrvatsko slovo, but also by Kana, a catholic monthly, which at one point hosted works of Vjekoslav Bajsić, a contributor to the Present Times section, where he published some interesting short stories, the structure of which represents a certain innovation in this literary form. The work describes Bajsić's innovations in the short story.

Keywords: short story, Zvonimir Bajsić, Catholic literature, literary theory