

ERRATA CORRIGE!

In the last issue of Acta clinica Croatica (No. 2, Vol. 40, 2001), several errors have occurred, as follows:

in the article Recommendations for Stroke Management from reference No. 157, the numbers in the text and numbers in the References section are not in coordination, i.e. the reference numbers in the text are by one number ahead of the respective numbers in the References section. For example, reference No. 157 in the text refers to reference No. 156 in the References section, No. 158 refers to 157, etc., and finally reference No. 182 in the text refers to reference No. 181 in the References section.

On page 148, in the section on Dipyridamole, the second sentence should run as follows:

Four trials investigated whether the combination of dipyridamole and acetylsalicylic acid is superior to acetylsalicylic acid alone, and three of them yielded negative results¹⁷⁴⁻¹⁷⁶.

On page 159, the text has been erroneously printed in Croatian language, and the correct web address is:

www.hzjz.hr

We are sorry the errors have crept in spite of all editing and proof editing work done. In the process of printing, some errors may generally be expected, however, we will do our best to keep the rate of errors as low as possible. We take this opportunity to apologize for any inconveniences the readers may have experienced due to these errors while reading the journal.

Editors