
SKUPNI NALAZ NOVCA IZ SINJSKOGA POLJA U FUNDUSU MUZEJA CETINSKE KRAJINE – SINJ

THE HOARD OF COINS FROM SINJSKO POLJE IN THE HOLDINGS OF THE MUSEUM OF CETINSKA KRAJINA REGION – SINJ

U radu je obrađen dio novca iz Numizmatičke zbirke Muzeja Cetinske krajine – Sinj. Riječ je o skupnom nalazu novca pronađenom prilikom melioracije Sinjskoga polja sredinom 20. stoljeća. Ukupno je pronađeno 273 komada rimskoga carskog novca iz doba careva Konstantina I. i Licinija I. Osim novca dvojice careva, nađen je i novac njihovih cezara.

Ključne riječi: skupni nalaz, Sinjsko polje, Konstantin I., Licinije I.

The paper analyzes some of the coins from the Numismatic Collection of the Museum of Cetinska Krajina Region – Sinj. The coins are part of the hoard found during the land-reclamation in Sinjsko polje (Sinj karst field) in the mid-20th century. A total of 273 Roman imperial coins from the reigns of Emperors Constantine I and Licinius I, respectively, was found. In addition to the coins of the two emperors, the find included the coins of their caesars.

Key words: hoard, Sinjsko polje, Constantin I., Licinius I.

Muzej Cetinske krajine – Sinj (dalje u tekstu: MCK - Sinj) ima 12 zbirki. Jedna od njih je i Numizmatička zbirka koja sadrži 2817 komada novca. Rimski carski novac je najzastupljeniji i broji 1950 komada. Dva najvažnija mjesta Cetinske krajine u antičko doba su Gardun i Čitluk. Fundus MCK - Sinj broji 157 komada novca s lokaliteta Gardun koje je obradio Tomislav Šeparović.¹ S lokaliteta Čitluk prikupljeno je 77 komada novca, a dio je također obradio Tomislav Šeparović.² Dva navedena teksta su jedine obrade iz numizmatičkog fundusa MCK - Sinj.

Sredinom 20. stoljeća provodila se melioracija Sinjskoga polja. Tada je izgrađen lateralni kanal na desnoj, zapadnoj strani polja, dužine 15,1 km.³ Zemlja koja se vadila prilikom izgradnje kanala prevozila se u grad Trilj za potrebe asfaltiranja ceste. Upravo u toj zemlji nađen je skupni nalaz novca iz doba Konstantina Velikoga. Riječ je o 273 primjerka novca od kojega je 121 komad u dobrom stanju. Prema podacima u muzejskoj Inventarnoj knjizi, taj skupni nalaz navodi se pod sljedećim inventarnim brojevima: MCK-AZ-198, MCK-AZ-199, MCK-AZ-200, MCK-AZ-204, MCK-AZ-205, MCK-AZ-206, MCK-AZ-207, MCK-AZ-208, MCK-AZ-209, MCK-AZ-210, MCK-AZ-324.⁴

Za mjesto nalaza navodi se:

“Na Trilju između kuća Gilića i asfaltne ceste u šljunku kojim je nasipana cesta. Taj šljunak dovezen je s deponija s desne strane rijeke Cetine, a tu je materijal prispio iz korita rijeke Cetine prigodom dubljenja korita u svrhu melioracije Sinjskog polja.”⁵

Gilića kuće, iz citiranoga teksta, nalaze se oko 300 m lijevo od mosta na Cetini, uz Ulicu kralja Tomislava koja vodi prema Livnu.

O pronalasku ovoga skupnog nalaza Muzeju je “javio Momo Martinović, službenik tvornice Cetinka, a prvi primijetio nalaz preko djece Ivan Gilić mehaničar.”⁶

U rubrici Opaske navedeno je da se novac “sakupljao od djece postepeno od 27. IV. do 27. V. 1971.”⁷

Najviše novca pripada Konstantinu I. (119 komada) te njegovim cazarima Krispu (48 komada) i Konstantinu II. (53 komada). Manjim dijelom je zastupljen novac Konstantinova oponenta Licinija I. (8 komada) te njegova cezara Licinija II. (11 komada). Neodrediva novca je 34 komada. U tekstu je taj novac obrađen kronološki po tipovima i kovnicama.

There are 12 collections in the Museum of Cetinska Krajina Region – Sinj (hereinafter: MCK – Sinj). One of them is Numismatic Collection, containing 2,817 coins. Roman imperial coins account for most of it, totaling 1,950 pieces. In the Antiquity, two most important places in Cetinska krajina region were Gardun and Čitluk. The MCK – Sinj holdings include 157 coins from Gardun site, analyzed by Tomislav Šeparović.¹ Part of the 77 coins coming from Čitluk site were also analyzed by Tomislav Šeparović.² These two texts of his are the only two analyses of the numismatic holdings of MCK - Sinj.

When land-reclamation took place in Sinjsko polje in the mid-20th century, a 15.1 km-long lateral canal was built along the right, western side of the karst field.³ The earth material that was excavated would be transported to the town of Trilj to be used for road paving. It was in that earth material that the hoard of coins from the period of Constantine the Great was found. There were 273 of them, 121 of which in good condition. In the museum's Inventory Book, the hoard is entered under the following inventory numbers: MCK-AZ-198, MCK-AZ-199, MCK-AZ-200, MCK-AZ-204, MCK-AZ-205, MCK-AZ-206, MCK-AZ-207, MCK-AZ-208, MCK-AZ-209, MCK-AZ-210, MCK-AZ-324.⁴

As regards the site of the find, the book specifies:

“In Trilj, in between Gilića kuće hamlet and the paved road, in the gravel fill used for the road. The gravel was brought from the dump on the Cetina's right bank, to where, in turn, it had come from the river when it had been dredged as part of the land-reclamation of Sinjsko polje.”⁵

Gilića kuće, the hamlet mentioned in the quote, is situated some 300m to the left of the Cetina bridge, along Kralja Tomislava Street leading to Livno.

The news about the find “were reported [to the Museum] by Momo Martinović, an employee of the Cetinka factory; the first one who saw the find had been Ivan Gilić, the mechanic, together with some children.”⁶

The “Comments” section specifies that the coins were “gradually collected from the children from 27 April to 27 May 1971.”⁷

Most of the coins belong to Constantine I (119 pieces) and his Caesars Crispus (48 pieces) and Constantine II (53 pieces). There are also a few coins of Constantine's opponent Licinius I (8 pieces) and his Caesar Licinius II (11 pieces). The hoard also includes 34 indeterminable coins. These are analyzed here chronologically, by types and by mints.

The coins of Constantine I found in the hoard were mostly minted in Sisak (38 pieces), Thessalonica (16), Ticinum (12), Aquileia (8), Sirmium (2) and Arles (1). For as many as 41 coins, the mint cannot be determined.

The most common coins are the ones with DN

CONSTANTINI MAX AVG, VOT XX on the reverse, in two lines within wreath (65 pieces). The second most numerous are the ones with VIRTUS EXERCIT, VOT XX on the reverse, written in the standard, with two seated captives underneath (23 pieces) and VICTORIAE LAETAE PRINC PERP, VOT PR in the shield held above the altar by two Victories in between themselves (21 pieces). There are two pieces with SARMATIA DEVICTA on the reverse, and Victoria stepping forward, right, with tropaeum and palm branch in hand, crushing captive. Some coins have the reverse with VOT XX MVLT XXX written in the wreath. The collection also includes six damaged coins with unrecognizable motifs on the reverse.

Tetrijarsi su počeli nemilosrdne borbe za prevlast. Nakon svih previranja, Licinije i Konstantin ostaju sami na vlasti. Neko su vrijeme bili u slozi, no mir nije potrajao. Naposlijetku, dva su se augusta sukobila. Konstantin je pobijedio Licinija u bitci kod

Most of the coins of Caesar Licinius were minted in Sisak (4 pieces), then in Thessalonica (2 pieces) and Aquileia and Rome (1 piece in each).

The most numerous type of the coins is the one with CAESARVM NOSTRORVM, VOT V written on the reverse in two lines within the wreath, (3 pieces). It is followed by the type with the inscription VIRTVS EXERCIT on the reverse (2 pieces). As for the types with the inscriptions ROMA AETERNAE, VICTORIA LAETAE PRINC PERP and VOT V / MVLT X / CAESS on their respective reverse sides, there is one piece of each. There are also three damaged coins with unrecognizable reverse sides.

Of the coins with unidentifiable emperors or caesars (34 pieces), three were minted in Sisak, two in Thessalonica and one in Aquileia. The mints where the remaining coins were made cannot be identified.

The most numerous of such coins are the ones with CAESARVM NOSTRORVM written on the reverse (6 pieces); they are followed by those with VIRTVS EXERCIT (4 pieces) and VICTORIA LAETAE PRINC PERP (2 pieces). The remaining coins are indeterminable.

The oldest coins are dated to 318 AD and the youngest ones to 327 AD. Soon after Diocletian had stepped down from the position of august, the Roman Empire saw the Cibala (Vinkovci) 314. godine.⁸ Prvi sukob Licinija i Konstantina okončan je 317. godine dogovorom prema kojem Licinije ustupa Konstantinu dunavske i balkanske provincije, izuzev Trakije. Osvojena je i Siscia sa svojom kovnicom, a Konstantin tada često boravi u Panoniji.⁹ Dio dogovora je bilo i imenovanje carskih sinova novim cezarima, Konstantina II. i Krispa (sinovi Konstantina I.) te Licinija II. (sin Licinija I.) Novi sukob započeo je 323., a završio sljedeće godine velikim Licinijevim porazom nakon kojega je zatočen u Tesalonici (Solunu) gdje je optužen za urotu i pogubljen. Konstantin je preuzeo kompletno Carstvo.

Nakon očeva pada, Licinij II. nestaje sa scene. Krispa je dao ubiti sam Konstantin I. zbog obiteljskih nesuglasica, dok će Konstantin II., s još dvojicom braće, naslijediti oca.

S obzirom na to da je kraj I. građanskog rata bio 317., a da novi počinje već 323. godine, ovaj novac Sinjskoga polja potječe iz rijetkih mirnodopskih dana između Konstantina i Licinija.

Najviše novca zavjetnoga je karaktera. Zavjeti su se davali u čast obilježavanja godišnjica vladavine cara i cezara. Većina takvoga novca je s vijencem na reversu u koji je upisano VOT V, VOT X i sl. Novac na kojem je pisalo VOT(a) P(opuli) R(omani) vjerojatno je zavjet VOTA PUBLICA koji se daje na početku svake godine.¹⁰

Novac VIRTUS EXERCIT XX, koji se dijelio vojsci, podudara se s petnaestogodišnjicom Konstantinove vladavine, a tekst na njemu donosi dobre želje i izražava nadu da će se dočekati i dvadeseta godina vladanja.

Od ukupno 273 komada obrađenoga novca, najviše je onoga kovanog u Sisku (102 komada), zatim u Tesalonici (35 komad), Akvileji (21 komad), Ticiniju (14 komada), Sirmiju (2 komada), Rimu (2 komada) te Arlesu (1 komad).

Novac iz Sinjskoga polja svojom brojnošću ima velik udio u Numizmatičkoj zbirci MCK – Sinj. S obzirom na to da je do sada mali dio zbirke objavljen, namjera ovog članka je upoznati širu javnost s bogatim numizmatičkim fondom te potaknuti daljnju obradu i objavu istog.

beginning of its disintegration. The tetrarchs engaged in merciless fight for power. After the turmoil, it was Licinius and Constantine who seized power. They co-ruled in harmony for a while, but peace did not last long and soon the two augusts fought each other. Constantine beat Licinius in the Battle of Cibalae (present-day Vinkovci) in 314 AD.⁸ The first conflict between Licinius and Constantine ended up with the 317 AD agreement by which Licinius ceded his Danube and Balkan provinces – except Thrace – to Constantine. This is when Siscia with its mint was conquered. Constantine would visit Pannonia very often.⁹ As part of the deal, the emperors appointed their respective sons as new caesars: Constantine I appointed Crispus and Constantine II and Licinius I appointed Licinius II. A new conflict took place in 323 AD, ending up with a crushing defeat of Licinius. He ended up in captivity in Thessalonica, where he was later charged with conspiracy and executed. Constantine now ruled the whole empire.

After the fall of his father, Licinius II disappeared from the historical stage. Constantine I had his son Crispus killed because of some family disputes and Constantine II would succeed his father together with his two brothers.

Since the first civil war ended in 317 AD and the new one broke out as early as in 323 AD, these coins from Sinjsko polje were minted in one of rare periods of peace between Constantine and Licinius.

Most of the coins are of votive nature. Vows were usually made to mark an anniversary of an emperor's or caesar's rule. Most of such coins have a wreath on the reverse, with the inscription VOT V, VOT X or similar in it. The inscription VOT(a) P(opuli) R(omani) probably refers to the vows VOTA PUBLICA, made at the beginning of every year.¹⁰

The coins inscribed with VIRTUS EXERCIT XX, given to the army, coincide with the fifteenth anniversary of Constantine's rule, expressing good wishes and hopes that he will see the twentieth anniversary of his rule. Of a total of 273 coins analyzed, most of them were minted in Sisak (102), Thessalonica (35) Aquileia (21), Ticinum (14), Sirmium (2), Rome (2) and Arles (1).

The coins from Sinjsko polje account for a large portion of the Numismatic Collection of MCK – Sinj. Since only a small part of the Collection has been published so far, this paper aims at informing the general public about the museum's rich numismatic holdings and encourage its further analyses and publishing.
