NATO as the

I am happy that Europe is prepared to use force to save a perceived threat to its security. The people in memory of whom I have made this article are gone, but at least they did not live to see the moment when their country was invaded. I am grateful that the United States has been able to do something to help them. I hope that the United States will continue to do whatever it can to help those who are still in the Yugoslav Republics.

It is right that the United States should do whatever it can to help those who are still in the Yugoslav Republics. It is also right that the United States should do whatever it can to help those who are still in the Yugoslav Republics. Despite the dangerous effects of ideologies on people's lives, there is no serious doubt that the NATO bombing has been successful. The bombing has been successful because it has prevented the Serbs from mounting such a campaign. As a result, the Serbs have been forced to withdraw from most of the areas they were occupying, and they have suffered significant losses. Historic Aggression Once AGAIN?

There would have been a better outcome if a regional European campaign had been carried out rather than an American-led campaign. The ultimate goal of the campaign was to prevent the Serbs from mounting such a campaign. As a result, the Serbs have been forced to withdraw from most of the areas they were occupying, and they have suffered significant losses.
