

Announcement*International Journal of Mass Spectrometry*

It has for some time been felt that the time was ripe for the creation of a journal to collect together the widely scattered literature on mass spectrometry. The new journal will contain papers both on fundamental studies and on applications, and is entirely international in character. Papers are accepted in English, German and French.

A high level will be maintained by a thorough system of refereeing, and publication will be rapid. The journal will initially appear on a bi-monthly basis and one volume will be published per year.

Editor for Germany:

Dr. J. Franzen
Institut für Spektrochemie und angewandte Spektroskopie
Bunsen-Kirchhoffstrasse 11
(Postfach 778)
46 Dortmund
Germany

Editorial Board (provisional):

J. H. Beynon (Manchester); C. Brunnée
(Bremen); J. E. Collin (Liège);
J. van Katwijk (Amsterdam);
G. W. Kenner (Liverpool).

Further information and sample copies will in due course be available upon request.
