

THINKING ABOUT THE COMMUNICATION OF KVIRIN VASILJ

Summary

Vasilj thinks that communication is an effective contact of one person with the other. In that act human being conceives both somebody else's and his own essence. According to his nature a human is the social being called to cooperate and establish the meaningful community. Thanks to the need of interpersonal understanding, the word has emerged. That is the symbol for space in which thinking, telling and listening are being developed. The purpose of speech is not in itself but in announcing the cognition. How communication could be successful and logical, terms, or communicational symbols which are used, must be correctly defined and consistently used. The message must be modernized and adopted to the current listeners. Model of real communication Vasilj sees in Jesus from Nazareth, who was understandable and approachable to all people regardless of their education because his language was simple and clear.

Key words: communication, philosophy of life, understanding, truth.