

brojna deklarativna i normativna pravila, a hrvatska se jezična tradicija još uvijek čuvala u raznovrsnim franjevačkim tekstovima.

LATIN GRAMMAR MANUSCRIPT BY THE FRANCISCAN FRANJO ĆORIĆ

Abstract

An incomplete manuscript of Latin grammar was found in the Franciscan monastery in Humac which, according to the information from one of the records of a Provincial administration session (April 27, 1892), was compiled by Franjo Ćorić, a Herzegovinian Franciscan who taught Latin in Humac in the late 19th century. The morphology and syntax of Latin language were described in Croatian. The paper analyses the content structure, examines the grammatical terminology of the mentioned manuscript, and compares parts of the content to the Latin grammars of Bosnian Franciscans of the 19th century.

Keywords: Latin grammar manuscript; Franjo Ćorić; Croatian language; content; grammatical terminology.