

Reliability of composite columns and beam - columns in EUROCODE 4

Marta Sulyok - Selimbegović

University of Zagreb, Faculty of Architecture, HR-10000 Zagreb, CROATIA

Theodore V. Galambos

University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN 55455-0220, USA

SUMMARY

The reliability of the design methods in EUROCODE 4, Composite Constructions, for composite columns is studied in this paper. The investigation has been performed for both concrete-filled tubes and concrete encased profiles. The research compares the available test-results with the design model of EC-4 using the second order reliability method.
