

Preface

This special issue of Distinctio: Journal of Intersubjective Studies is dedicated to the distinguished Italian philosopher of science Evandro Agazzi, on the occasion of his 90th birthday. For this reason, this issue starts off with an interview with prof. Agazzi and is followed by papers related to many nuances of his philosophy. As Agazzi's birthday is in October, this issue appears in October for that reason. Each paper published has been subjected to editorial team review and not the usual double blind review process.
