SWS VIENNA ART 2025: ''When Science Meets Art''

3-6 December 2025, Vienna (Austria)

•············

This remarkable event will be held at the stunning Schönbrunn Palace at the end of November, running alongside the SGEM Vienna Green conference. Together, these two events offer a one-of-a-kind opportunity to explore the intersections of Social Sciences, Arts & Humanities, and Environmental Sustainability.

The WSMA event brings together the best from Social Sciences and Arts & Humanities, creating a platform where disciplines converge, fostering new insights into areas like Cultural Power Dynamics, Law and Governance in the Digital Age, and AI's Role in Society. With a focus on interdisciplinary collaboration, WSMA offers fresh perspectives at the crossroads of knowledge, creativity, and digital transformation.

At the same time, SGEM Vienna Green will address critical topics in green sciences, focusing on solutions for a sustainable future. The synergy between WSMA and SGEM Vienna Green will provide a unique platform for interdisciplinary dialogue on how culture, technology, and sustainability shape our world. Don't miss the opportunity to be part of this extraordinary event where science, art, and sustainability come together in Vienna!

The XIIth SWS conference on Social Sciences ISCSS2025 "When Science meets Art" will be focused on the exceptional lands of intersection between three great branches of Humanitarian thought – Social Sciences, Cultural Studies and Arts. Together we shall explore the possible multidisciplinary approaches to deal with human subjectivity, society and their interconnections by putting the accent on the synthesis of Human and Natural Sciences, of Art and Science.
