

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

General remarks

Manuscripts should be sent by November 1 at the latest to: Colloquia Maruliana, Editorial Board, Književni krug Split – Marulianum, Ispod ure 3/I, HR-21000 Split, Croatia or by email to the addresses marulianum.split@gmail.com and neven.jovanovic@ffzg.unizg.hr.

Contributions should be written in any kind of computer font that supports the Unicode standard (such as Times New Roman in the Windows OS, Lucida Grande in the Mac OS, or the freely available Gentium font for all operating systems). It is recommended that the main text be written in 12 pt, the footnotes in 11 pt, with a line spacing of 1.5. If a hardcopy is sent, it must be accompanied by an electronic version on CD.

Original scholarly contributions should not be shorter than 5 or longer than 50 pages of computer print-out. Reviews should be from 2 to 6 pages.

Contributions written on a typewriter should be typed with double line spacing (30 lines on a page). The maximum length for typewritten contributions is 60 pages.

If illustrations are added, each one must be a separate document, and should not be incorporated in the text.

In the heading of the manuscript information about the author should be provided (name and surname, name of institution, electronic address).

After the title comes the abstract (10–15 lines) and at the end of the paper the summary (about 10 per cent of the total length of the work). Immediately after the abstract there should be the key words (5–7 of the most important concepts discussed in the paper). The summary, abstract and key words should be written in the language in which the paper itself is written.

The reviewing process

All papers submitted for publication in the annual Colloquia Maruliana will be categorised and individually reviewed with at least three written reviews. The papers will be read by all members of the editorial board, and reviewed in writing by at least three of them. If the editors decide that the paper exceeds the boundaries of their professional competences, they will send it for evaluation by external reviewers. If the author of a paper that has been submitted happens to be a member of the editorial board of Colloquia Maruliana, this author is excused from the reviewing process, and all decisions about his paper are taken by the remaining members of the board.

The citation of bibliographical information in the notes

1. A reference to Colloquia Maruliana:

In conjunction with the name of the author and the title of the article, the abbreviation CM, the Roman number of the volume, the year (in parentheses) and the numbers of the pages should be supplied, e.g.:

Miloš Milošević, »Sedam nepoznatih pisama Marka Marulića,« CM I (1992), 5–31.

2. A reference to the Collected Works of Marko Marulić:

The abbreviation of the volume is given (see the list below) and the page numbers, e.g.:

DDT, 101.

Nasl, 128.

Ev I, 153–155.

Rep II, 124.

3. Other

Reference to a book:

Marianna D. Birnbaum, Humanists in a Shattered World. Croatian and Hungarian Latinity in the Sixteenth Century, Slavica Publishers, Inc., Columbus, Ohio, 1986, 125.

Reference to proceedings and collective works:

Éva Gyulai, »Antonius Verantius,« in Christian-Muslim Relations. A Bibliographical History. Vol. 7: Central and Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa, and South America (1500–1600), ed. Thomas David and John Chesworth, Brill, Leiden, 2015, 362–371.

If there are more than three editors, cite only the name of the first-listed editor, followed by et al.

Reference to a journal:

Michael B. Petrovich, »Croatian Humanists and the Writing of History in the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Centuries,« Slavic Review 37 (1978), 624–639.

A further citation of a previously mentioned bibliographical reference in a new note is effectuated with a second but abbreviated mention of the author with the marking op. cit.; if necessary, in parentheses, the number of the note in which the full bibliographical information is given should be supplied, e.g.:

M. D. Birnbaum, op. cit. (1), 77.

Internet sources:

Instead of URLs give only the main bibliographic information, with the remark »Internet« and the access date:

Stefano Benedetti, »Maffei, Raffaele,« Dizionario Biografico degli Italiani (Internet, February 17, 2022).
