

RELATIVE RADON CONCENTRATION USING
SOLID STATE NUCLEAR TRACK DETECTORS

S. Backović, S. Dapčević, A. Mardjekić

Institute of Mathematics and Physics,
University "Veljko Vlahović" - Titograd

R. Antanasijević, Ž. Todorović, D. Miočinović
Institute of Physics - Belgrade

In this experiment a measurement was made of the relative radon concentration in the area of Ivangrad.

Nitrocelluloses IR-115 were used as detectors. Locations with a higher radon concentration were established.

Results of the radon concentration measurements are in agreement with preliminary geological investigation in the same area.