

Bulletin of the International Association for Paleodontology is an international peer reviewed journal open to scientists from all fields of bioarcheology, paleodontology and related fields. Bulletin of the International Association for Paleodontology welcomes all contributions that enhance or illuminate bioarchaeological sciences. Our special interest lies in ancient teeth and mouth.

Instructions for publishing of articles in Bulletin of the International Association for Paleodontology (www.paleodontology.com) are made in accordance with the recommendations of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors – Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals (www.ICMJE.org).

The journal publishes articles on anthropology, bioarchaeology, paleodontology and related fields that have not been published so far.

Journal management of the Bulletin of the International Association for Paleodontology is performed by Open Journal Systems (OJS).

Manuscripts should be submitted in English language at:

<https://hrcaj.srce.hr/ojs/index.php/paleodontology/information/authors>.

Before submitting a manuscript please read carefully our Instructions for authors, Review policy and Ethics policy.

Bulletin of the International Association for Paleodontology is a journal powered by enthusiasm of individuals. We do not charge readers, we do not charge authors for publications, and there are no fees of any kind. We support the idea of free science for everyone. Support the journal by submitting your papers.

Classification of manuscripts

Manuscripts published in Bulletin of the International Association for Paleodontology are classified as: original scientific papers, reviews, case reports, letters to the editor, book reviews and meetings reports. The author should indicate the type of article at the beginning of the paper.

Language

Manuscripts should be submitted in English language. Authors are responsible for language correctness and content. All authors are encouraged to hire someone to check and edit their English before submitting the paper. Manuscript has been 'spell checked' and 'grammar checked'.

Text setup

Scientific papers articulately written can have up to 15 pages, while case studies can have up to 8 pages, font size 12 (Times New Roman). All figures and tables are included and should be placed at the end of a document after references. All submissions should be in Microsoft Word format (.doc or .docx). Please, take a look at some of the last articles to see how the text is organized. Footnotes are not acceptable.

Text components

Title (up to 150 characters including spaces), names of the authors are to be stated by first name and then by family name. Author's affiliations are indicated by a number in parenthesis at the end of each name and stated after the list of authors (department, institution, university, city, country). Address for correspondence of the corresponding authors must include the name, postal address and email address. Please, take a look at some of the last articles to see how the text is organized.

Abstract should be up to 250 words. After the abstract there should be two to five keywords (separated by semicolons; they should be written in lower case unless they are names) essential for identification and classification of the article's contents, which will help in the composition of the descriptor. NLM descriptors can be found on:

Introduction should represent a concise and plain problem overview and research objective. Papers directly related to the problem elaborated in the article should be briefly mentioned.

Materials and Methods implemented in the work should be displayed briefly, but detailed enough to enable the reader to repeat the described research. This chapter should be structured in three parts. 1) Procedures are shown according to the chronological order of their implementation; 2) Exact description of materials (samples); 3) Statistical procedures applied in the result analysis.

Results should be represented clearly and precisely without any additional comments and comparisons. All figures and tables should be referenced in text as tables or figures only (e.g. Figure 1 or Table 1) and placed at the end of a document.

Discussion is a part of the paper which gives the author the freedom of overview and comparison of his own results with the same or with similar studies published in the past.

Conclusion is a separate chapter of the paper, brief and concise. It follows the discussion and extracts the most important conclusions of the research.

Tables and figures

Table should be made in Microsoft Word and should be placed at the end of the manuscript, not inside the text. The tables should be in ordinal numbers which are associated with the text. Tables' titles are written above tables. Example: "Table 1. Title of the table." Please do not forget to place a dot after number of the table and at the end of the table title.

Charts, photos, diagrams, x-rays and other images are all considered as figures. Each figure must have an ordinal number related to the order of appearance inside the text. Each figure must also have a title placed below the image. Example: "Figure 1. Title of the figure." Please do not forget to place a dot after number of the figure and at the end of the figure title. All figures should be placed at the end of the manuscript, after tables (if any), not inside the text. Only high quality figures will be accepted for publication. Reproduction of the photos is not allowed without specifying the authorship. The paper should contain a reasonable number of tables and figures (the total number of figures and tables together is a maximum of 10). Written permission must be obtained for use of copyrighted material from other sources (including the Internet). The authors are responsible for any possible copyright issues.

Declaration of interest

All authors must disclose any financial and personal relationships with other people or organizations that could inappropriately influence (bias) their work. Authors must disclose any interests at the end of manuscript, after Conclusion section and before the reference list or author contributions statements (if any). If there are no interests to declare then please state this: 'Declarations of interest: none'.

Author contributions

If there are two or more authors, each author should submit an author statement outlining the individual contributions to the paper. These statements should be placed after the Declaration of interest section and before the reference list.

References

Literature used in the paper should be indicated in Arabic numbers in the order of appearance and quoting in the paper in parenthesis. If references are given at the end of a sentence they should be placed in parentheses before the full stop, not after the full stop. It should be cited according to the recommendations of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (www.ICMJE.org) so called Vancouver style. Abbreviations of the journals' titles are used according to the Medline / PubMed. All references mentioned in the Reference List should be cited in the text, and vice versa.
