The journal publishes theoretical, empirical and review articles, and given the wide range of readers, priority is given to articles that are of wider social and international interest, in particular empirical research and international comparative research that are not locally specific and thematically narrowly specialized.

Only manuscripts of sufficient quality that meet the aims and scope of _Društvena istraživanja_ will be reviewed.

2. Submission of the manuscript

Editorial board receives only unpublished manuscripts in Croatian or English.

Manuscripts should be submitted only in electronic form online via the Open Journal System: http://drustvena-istrazivanja.pilar.hr.

There are no fees payable to submit or publish in this journal.

The journal supports an open approach, which means that all of its contents are freely available without charging to users and their institutions.

3. What do we publish?

_Društvena istraživanja_ publishes:

- Scientific articles (original scientific articles and review articles (up to 7,000 words without abstract);

- Reviews of books and conferences (full-length up to 2,000 words).

Exceptionally, the journal publishes professional articles and short communications.

The journal may also publish supplements that exceed the number of the regular 4 editions of the journal annually, and may also be funded from various sources. Additional editions are submitted and prepared under the same editing policy that applies to thematic issues.
4. Editorial policy

4.1. Peer Review Policy

All manuscripts undergo initial editorial check in order to assess whether the manuscript comply with the scientific and editorial standards of the journal, and if it fits in the objectives and themes of the journal.

Those manuscripts that pass this initial scrutiny are sent to a double blind review that does not reveal the identity of either the author or the reviewer. Therefore, the authors are asked to remove from the text and list of references, as well as from the properties of the electronic document, all the information that can reveal their identity (name, project information, acknowledgments).

All manuscripts submitted in English language require prior proofreading and editing by native speaker or professional editor to eliminate grammatical or spelling errors and possibly in writing style.

After receiving the reviewers’ reports, the authors, in addition to the new version of the manuscript, submit to the Editorial board a cover letter stating which reviewers’ proposals were accepted and in what way, and which were not (with explanation and argumentation).

4.2 Compliant policy

Authors can write an appeal letter regarding the review process or the decision on the manuscript to the Editor in chief. In case of repeated appeal, the Editor decides on the basis of a discussion at a meeting of the Editorial board or upon recommendation of an independent adjudicator.

4.3. Plagiarism Check

All received manuscripts are subject to routine disclosure of similarity with exiting literature (plagiarism and self-plagiarism) through iThenticate Similarity Check program: https://www.crossref.org/services/similarity-check/)

In the case of suspected plagiarism and redundancy, the editorial board will act in accordance with the recommendations of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE): (https://publicationethics.org/resources/flowcharts).

4.4. Publishing fee and funding

The authors are not charged by the journal for the cost of receiving, reviewing and publishing papers. The journal is funded by the Ministry of Science and Education of the Republic of Croatia, by subscription to the print edition and funds from the publisher.

4.5. Open access

The journal supports open access. The full content of the journal is immediately and permanently free for everyone to read, download, disseminate or use in any other legal way without requesting explicit permission from the author or publisher.
4.6. Copyright Notice (Creative Commons Licence)

Copyright for articles published in this journal is retained by the authors, with first publication rights granted to the journal (this applies to both print and electronic issue). Papers published in the journal are licensed under the Creative Commons license CC-BY-NC (http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/), which means that the content can be used with attribution for non-commercial purpose.

The use of psychological measurement instruments and computer programs should be in accordance with applicable regulations, and the authors should submit a statement on the use of legitimate copies or possession of written permission for the rights to their use.

4.7. Preprints and Advance Communications

With the development of communication channels and the Internet, as well as the need to speed up the exchange of scientific information, it has become common for the authors to make the results of their research publicly available before being published in scientific journals through preprints and other forms of informal communication. Preprint is usually defined as scholarly or scientific work that precedes publication in a peer reviewed journal and can be publicly available in the form of article, review, various data, comments, etc. It is assumed that preprints accelerate scientific communication, enable public evaluation and thus contribute to improvement of scientific works as well as to the access of contents that otherwise would be lost to the scientific community.

Author(s) can make the results of their research publicly available before submitting them to Društvena istraživanja through working materials, preprint platforms, blogs, and other informal communication channels. Such public availability of research or manuscript does not represent publication in the journal. When submitting a manuscript to Društvena istraživanja, author(s) must inform the Editorial Board of any previous disclosures of this manuscript or its earlier versions.

Abstracts and posters of works presented at the conferences are also accepted in the review process. However, papers published within the conference publications are not acceptable for review.

In case the manuscript has been published in Društvena istraživanja, author(s) should provide a link to the published article by adding a sentence: "This manuscript was published in the journal Društvena istraživanja and is available online (add link) with the following DOI (enter the DOI, which has been awarded by the journal Društvena istraživanja).

4.8. Ethical issues

4.8.1. Author’s responsibility

Authors are responsible for the originality and authorship of their manuscripts and should behave in accordance with the ethical principles and rules of scientific honesty for the authors of the European Association of Scientific Editors (EASE): http://www.ease.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2015/12/EASE-Guidelines-2017-
If they use other knowledge or their own previously published knowledge, this should be properly referred and cited. The description of the research process should contain all the information relevant for judging the ethics of research implementation. Editorial board may also request confirmation that the research has been approved by the ethics committee of the competent institution. Authors are required to obtain permission to print pictures, documents and other materials from the appropriate copyright holders. Authors should list the organizations, scientific projects or institutions that have supported research, which are published in the article.

In case of suspicion of unethical scientific conduct (plagiarism, self-plagiarism, manipulation of data, redundant manuscripts, changes in authorship etc.) the Editorial board will act in accordance with the guidelines of the international association - "Committee on Publication Ethics" (COPE): http://publicationethics.org/resources/flowcharts.

4.8.2 Changes to authorship

According to the guidelines for authors of the European Association of Scientific Editors (EASE) http://ease.org.uk/publications/author-guidelines, authors are expected to consider carefully the list and order of authors before submitting their manuscript and provide the definitive list of authors at the time of the original submission. Any addition, deletion or rearrangement of author names in the authorship list should be made only before the manuscript has been accepted and only if approved by the journal editorial board. To request such a change, the editorial board must receive the following from the corresponding author: (a) the reason for the change in author list and (b) written confirmation (e-mail, letter) from all authors that they agree with the changes. In the case of addition or removal of authors, this includes confirmation from the author being added or removed. Only in exceptional circumstances will the Editorial board consider the addition, deletion or rearrangement of authors after the manuscript has been accepted. If the manuscript has already been published in an online issue, any requests approved by the Editor will result in a corrigendum.

4.8.3. Responsibility of reviewers

Reviewers are required to handle each manuscript as confidential, and to protect the integrity of the author and manuscript.

Reviewers should consider the received manuscript in a highly responsible, constructive and objective way and warn the editors if they are not sufficiently qualified for the topic of work.

Reviewers are required to disclose potential conflicts of interest regarding the manuscript that they review, and in case of conflicts of interest, are excluded from the review procedure. It is equally valid for members of the Editorial boards who are excluded from the editorial process if they are in conflict of interest (co-operation or other form of relationship with the authors).

CONTRIBUTORS ARE REQUESTED TO CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:

Articles:

1. The length of articles (including references, notes, figures and tables) should not exceed 7000 words.

2. Contributions should be double-spaced and all pages should be numbered.

3. The first page should contain the author’s name and surname, the name and address of the institution in which the author is employed, and the title of the article written in capital letters.

(The Editorial board will delete this information before sending the manuscript to be reviewed).

5. In the reference list or bibliography, the author should provide full references for all the works mentioned in the text; also, the reference list should contain only those sources mentioned in the text. They should be listed alphabetically according to the surname of the author, and chronologically if a particular author has more than one work. If several works by the same author were published in the same year, they should be differentiated by letters (a, b, c, etc.) following the year of publication. If a work was written by several authors, all authors should be listed instead of using “et al.” or “and collaborators”.

When an article or bibliographic record has a DOI, use the DOI number in the reference list (it is possible to look up the DOI number here: http://www.crossref.org/SimpleTextQuery/).

For works accessible through the internet, the main information (title, author etc.) and the source (http://) should be provided.

6. A summary written in Croatian and English should also be included. The summary should not exceed 180 words and should indicate the aim of the work, the methodology used, and the most important findings and conclusions. Authors should specify up to five key words.

7. Graphical appendices (tables and graphs) need to be in black and white, saved in original format, with their size and complexity adjusted to the format of the Journal so that all elements are clear and visible. They must be numbered consecutively in order of appearance and include title. The graphic appendixes are part of the manuscript and should be enclosed in the text. Exceptionally, they may be placed at the end of the manuscript, while their exact position should be indicated in the text of the manuscript.
Formatting references in the text according to APA style:

The sources should be cited in the text, not in the footnotes. The reference should be in brackets, containing the author's surname and year of publication e.g.:

(Mumford, 1962) or
Mumford (1962).

The page number should be included for quotations or references to books e.g.:

If the reference was written by two authors, both should be mentioned e.g.:
(Berger & Luckmann, 1992).

If the work was written by three or more authors, the form "et al." is used from the first citation on, e.g.:
(Prelog et al., 1979) or
Prelog et al. (1979).

All references in the text should be given as they were given the first time, i.e., forms such as "Ibid.", "Op. cit." and the like, are not used. Authors should use footnotes exclusively for commenting on or expanding on what is referred to in the text.

The reference list should be written in APA style as in the following examples:

Book – one author:

Book – several authors:

Work from an anthology:

Article in a journal with a DOI number:

Article in a journal without a DOI number:

Unpublished doctoral dissertation:
Name of institution.

Published conference paper:
