

Upute za recenzente

Napomena

Budući da časopis Nanomaterials and Nanotechnology izlazi samo na engleskom jeziku, upute za recenzente ne postoje na hrvatskom jeziku već samo na engleskom jeziku.

Instructions for Authors

Accepted Formats

To ensure rapid refereeing and publication, please submit your paper in MS Word (.doc or .docx) file format according to the detailed Instructions for Authors.

The number of pages is at the discretion of authors; on average papers are 4-12 pages long. When preparing your paper for publication, we strongly advise that you pay particular attention to your research methods, key results and language.

Originality

Submissions must be original work, the copyright to which is not already owned elsewhere. Originality, creativity and a cross-disciplinary approach or perspectives are strongly encouraged.

Publication of conference papers which have been substantially rewritten and augmented to be suitable for journal publication is allowed.

Significant duplication of papers and parallel submissions are not allowed and in such cases InTech reserves the right to withdraw publishing rights from authors and co-authors of the paper for a substantial period of time. It is the author's responsibility to check for possible copyright conflict with the copyright holder.

Language

Given that the manuscript must be written in English, if English is not your mother tongue we recommend that you have your paper proofread to ensure its accuracy and improve the language quality.

If you have any questions about format requirements, please contact nano@intechweb.org.
