

GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS

POLJOPRIVREDA/AGRICULTURE (ISSN 1330-7142) is published by the Faculty of Agrobiotechnical Sciences Osijek and Agricultural Institute Osijek. The journal publishes original research from the following fields: plant production, animal science, soil science, ecology and agricultural economics.

The papers are published in both Croatian and English language. Papers are accepted on the understanding that they have not been or will not be published elsewhere. Inferences, summaries, synopses, dissertations as well as presentations at symposia are not considered as published papers. Book surveys or their reviews, short translations and communications covering the agriculture field will also be published in the journal supplement.

The manuscripts should be sent to Editorial Board in electronic form (e-mail: mantun@fazos.hr) and should be prepared according to the following instructions:

- Figures (photographs, graphs) should be submitted as part of the main text but they also must be submitted each as a separate document (Microsoft Word). Such a document should be named as follows: a generic name of the figure and the figure title (for example: Figure 1. Photosynthetic efficiency index value).
- The figure title and description are integral parts of the text and not the figure and thus appear in the text and not the figure.
- Figures (photographs, graphs) must be of the highest possible quality and resolution (.tif, .png).
- Tables are preferably submitted not as images but as parts of the text. It is recommended that their formatting be as simple as possible.
- Full authors' names with titles, occupations, e-mail of corresponding author and addresses of the institutions they work at (letter size 10, italic) should be placed at the bottom of the first page below 3 cm long line, they are not allowed to be written in the automatic footnote program. Generally, all papers should be divided into the following sections:

TITLE: Should be as short as possible, informative and written in capital letters, bold type, and font 12 pt. Authors surname and initial of authors' name without academic titles should be placed below the title. Each authors name should be followed by an exponent if authors do not work in the same institution (bold and italic type, font 11 pt).

SUMMARY: Is cited and published in international databases, so it must be written in informative way and has to be able to stand alone. A Summary should include main objectives, materials, results and short conclusion of the paper. It should be written in bold and italic type, font 10 pt, with limit of 200 words. Up to six key-words is recommended, for incorporating into information systems, which must be written in bold and italic type, font 10 pt.

INTRODUCTION: Should give a brief introduction to the research problem, short review of relevant literature with reference to the current knowledge about the problem and at the end should present the scientific questions (objectives/aims) of proposed paper.

MATERIAL AND METHODS: Material and Methods should be written with enough details to allow others to repeat the experiment. New or modified methods should be described in details whereas for widely familiar methods reference should be cited.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION: Obtained results should be presented graphically or in tables together with their statistical evaluation. Results should be interpreted objectively and confronted with results of other authors. Care should be taken in avoiding repeated data in tables, graphs and again in the text.

CONCLUSION: Contains synthesis of the research and results, and provides answers to proposed scientific questions.

REFERENCES: References should be numbered and listed alphabetically according to the surname of the first author. The APA (American Psychological Association) referencing style should be used to cite all sources and DOI number must be added if a paper has it.
