
AUTHOR GUIDELINES

Health Bulletin is a multidisciplinary scientific journal dedicated to publishing unpublished original scientific, professional and review articles, as well as case reports, reviews, professional notices and a broad range of topics from areas of health care disciplines.

Organization of the Manuscript

Articles and all attachments/appendices are submitted in English, with a mandatory summary in Croatian language. The article should contain up to 15 pages, including pictures, tables and bibliography. It must be written in Microsoft Word and you should use 12pt Times New Roman font throughout the text, 1.5 spacing, and both sides alignment. An original scientific article should contain the following components: introduction, objectives, materials and methods, results, discussion and conclusions. The introduction should briefly indicate the objective of the study and its purpose. The materials and methods should be brief and sufficient and therefore allow the reader to repeat the research. Already known methods are not described but mentioned in the references. The results should be clear and logical, and their relevance should be supported with corresponding statistical methods. The discussion section should include a brief statement of the principal findings, a discussion of the findings in light of other published work dealing with the same or closely related subjects. Conclusions must correspond with the present objectives of the research.

Along with the title, the title page should contain author's full name, institution, address, city and the country of the article.

The abstract, in Croatian and English, should not exceed 250 words. Up to 5 keywords representing the main content of the article should be written underneath the abstract. Tables and pictures should be provided on a separate page. They must have an ordinal number that corresponds with the text, and a heading.

With their consent to publication in the Health Bulletin, the authors inform that they will not publish the same work elsewhere without the permission of the Editorial Board. Authors will not receive monetary compensation for the published article. Along with their work, the authors must submit a cover letter to the relevant Editorial Office, which contains a handwritten statement of all the authors:

1. that the said paper has not been published or accepted for publication in another journal,
2. that the research was approved by the Ethics Commission,
3. that the accepted work becomes the property of the Health Bulletin.

The journal is not paid any fee for submitting the work, translating and publishing the work.
