CITATION AND REFERENCING GUIDE

Annals of the Croatian Political Science Association use the APA 6th Edition citation style along with some minor modifications. For detailed APA citation style guidelines please refer to this link.

REFERENCING JOURNAL ARTICLES

Articles with a single author

→ (Raos, 2020: 12)

Articles with two authors

→ (Kursar & Matan, 2020: 125)

Articles with more than two authors

First reference: (Runje, Petrović & Bovan, 2008: 134)
Subsequent references: (Runje et al., 2008: 145)

Note: The original APA style only references the DOI number (e.g. doi:10.1037/a0017815) while Annals use the full internet link (e.g. https://doi.org/10.1037/a0017815). Please include the DOI for every reference that has one.

REFERENCING BOOKS

Books with one author

→ (Berkman, 1994: 12)

Books with multiple authors

→ (Sorauf & Beck, 2004: 56)
REFERENCING CHAPTERS IN EDITED COLLECTIONS

Edited collection with one editor
☞ (Hermann, 2001: 130)

Edited collection with multiple editors
☞ (Kulenović & Hasić, 2016: 70)

Note: Unlike the original APA style, Annals place a colon after the preposition denoting the editor (e.g. In: J. Smith (ed.),…, in contrast to APA: In J. Smith (ed.),…)

REFERENCING NEWSPAPER AND MAGAZINE ARTICLES

Newspaper or magazine article with a denoted author
☞ (Sanger & Shear, 2021)

Newspaper or magazine article without a denoted author
☞ (The New York Times, 2021)

CITING ONLINE SOURCES

Online sources with a denoted author
☞ (Nakashima, 2021)

Online sources without a denoted author
☞ (Ipsa.org, 2021)

Note: Annals’ reference guidelines for newspapers, magazines and online sources differs significantly from original APA guidelines.
