Comprehensive and systematic searches through Scopus, Web of Science, PubMed, Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ), and specialist bibliographic databases are strongly encouraged to cite highly relevant, updated, and evidence-based items. The following relevant recommendations could be consulted at <https://rdcu.be/bVOOt> and <https://bit.ly/2PxEGDz>.

References should be presented using the Vancouver style, a numeric citation style as recommended by the US National Library of Medicine. The most frequent examples can be consulted in the following recommendations: ICMJE Recommendations for the Conduct, Reporting, Editing and Publication of Scholarly Work in Medical Journals: Samples of Formatted References for Authors of Journal Articles (https://www.nlm.nih.gov/bsd/uniform_requirements.html). Detailed instructions can be found in the following book: Citing Medicine (<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/books/NBK7256>). References in the text, tables, and legends should be numbered in Arabic numerals, in parentheses, consecutively in the order of appearance in the text. When more than one reference is given, these should be separated by a comma.

In the list of references, authors and/or editors are cited with the surname(s) and followed by the initial(s) of the name(s). Initials do not end with a full stop, unless the initial comes immediately before the title. For several authors/editors, their names are separated by a comma. For more than six authors/editors, the first six should be listed with surnames and initials followed by "et al.", and the others omitted. In titles, only the first word is capitalized, and any other words that are usually written with a capital. In pagination, repeated identical initial digits for page numbers are omitted (for example: 123-125 becomes 123-5). Each reference should end with a full stop.

For articles in English, it is recommended that titles of references published in other languages are cited in English (if available), or an English translation of the title provided (placed in square brackets), with an indication of the language of the original placed at the end. When referencing an accepted, but not yet published, article, "Forthcoming" should be added at the end. Authors should have written consent to cite such an article, with confirmation that the article has been accepted for publication.
