Review Process

Author submits manuscript via http://www.editorialmanager.com/zireb/ with request for Editor in Chief who performs initial check. After initial check Editor in Chief sends it back to author (desk rejection) or assigns Managing Editor who invites two reviewers. All reviews use a double-blind review process. Reviewers submit their recommendations to Managing Editor. Managing Editor makes decision (Accept/Reject/Revision) and notifies Editor in Chief who makes final decision and notifies author about final decision.

Reviewers and journal editors are expected to provide comments and critiques in a confidential, constructive, prompt, and unbiased manner appropriate for their position of responsibility. The editor has the final authority for the acceptance or rejection of any article.