

Aims and scope

Review of Psychology publishes semiannually original articles concerning all topics in scientific and applied psychology. The emphasis is on empirically based articles but theoretical, methodological and review papers, critical surveys, as well as open-peers commentaries will also be included. The articles have to be of interest to the entire community of psychologists, and especially to the Alps Adria psychologists' community. Therefore historical papers, approaches or schools of thought and cross-cultural studies within the Alps Adria Region will be welcome.
